Introduction

Born from the Blade table family, this wooden bookcase unit is a spacious yet suspended volume that combines functionality with minimal design. Punctuated by solid and open storage spaces, by closed doors and open shelving, Blade Cabinet is defined by its bold, clean-cut lines and modular form. It is available in a wide range of variants (colours, finishes, sizes) to adapt perfectly to both work environments and domestic settings.

Nata dalla famiglia dei tavoli Blade, questo mobile libreria in legno è un volume capiente, ma sospeso, che concentra in sé funzionalità e design minimale. Ritmata da spazi contenitivi pieni e vuoti, da anta chiusa e scaffale a vista, Blade Cabinet si caratterizza per le sue linee decise e sintetiche e la forma modulare. È disponibile in un'ampia gamma di varianti (colori, finiture, dimensioni) per adattarsi alla perfezione sia in contesti lavorativi che in ambienti domestici.

Blade Cabinet

“The collection was launched with tables characterised by a solid wood top, the edge of which is finished with a pronounced chamfer that tapers the profile, sharpening it and making it appear lighter; this design feature creates a contrast between the apparent delicacy and the solidity of the material, which is the aesthetic and perceptual objective we sought to achieve.”

Aldo Parisotto (Monselice, 1962) graduated from IUAV Venice under James Stirling, and taught interior design in Trieste from 2001 to 2003. Massimo Formenton (Padova, 1964) also graduated from IUAV in 1989. Together they founded Parisotto+Formenton studio in Padova in 1990, with a Milan base added in 2004. Their work spans architecture (museums, commercial spaces and residential buildings, including the recent restoration of Milan's historical Ricordi palace) and 360° retail design for major fashion and luxury brands (Salvatore Ferragamo, Eleventy, Testoni, Vic Matié, among others). They are also behind the Nespresso boutique concepts worldwide, alongside significant collaborations in lighting and furniture design.
