Stackable and modular, low and compact, the new Blade coffee tables are versatile side tables for home and office. Born from the Blade family, they share its formal lightness and the pronounced bevel of the top. Available in lacquered MDF or marble (Alpi green, Verona red, Carrara white), they are objects that look beautiful even when unused, yet ready to become small meeting tables when needed. Whether looking for a cocktail table or a space-saving side table, the collection meets every need. Also part of the Blade line are tables and sideboards, sharing the same minimal design language.

Sovrapponibili e componibili, bassi e compatti, i nuovi coffee table Blade sono versatili tavolini d'appoggio per casa e ufficio. Nascono dalla famiglia Blade, condividendone la leggerezza formale e lo smusso marcato del piano. Disponibili in MDF laccato o in marmo (verde Alpi, rosso Verona, bianco Carrara), sono oggetti belli anche da inutilizzati, ma pronti a trasformarsi in piccoli tavoli riunioni quando serve. Che si cerchi un tavolino da cocktail o salvaspazio, la collezione soddisfa ogni esigenza. Completano la linea Blade anche tavoli e madie, con la stessa cifra minimale.

“The collection was launched with tables characterised by a solid wood top, the edge of which is finished with a pronounced chamfer that tapers the profile, sharpening it and making it appear lighter; this design feature creates a contrast between the apparent delicacy and the solidity of the material, which is the aesthetic and perceptual objective we sought to achieve.”

Aldo Parisotto (Monselice, 1962) graduated from IUAV Venice under James Stirling, and taught interior design in Trieste from 2001 to 2003. Massimo Formenton (Padova, 1964) also graduated from IUAV in 1989. Together they founded Parisotto+Formenton studio in Padova in 1990, with a Milan base added in 2004. Their work spans architecture (museums, commercial spaces and residential buildings, including the recent restoration of Milan's historical Ricordi palace) and 360° retail design for major fashion and luxury brands (Salvatore Ferragamo, Eleventy, Testoni, Vic Matié, among others). They are also behind the Nespresso boutique concepts worldwide, alongside significant collaborations in lighting and furniture design.
