Introduction

A table that is shaped by its edge, a border in solid oak or ash wood, within which lies the mdf top with oakwood, lacquered or other custom finishes. The supporting base consists of a central concentric column leg in steel finished in a wide range of colors.

Un tavolo che prende forma dal suo bordo, una cornice in legno massello di rovere o frassino, dentro la quale si appoggia il piano in mdf con finitura in rovere, o laccato o in altre finiture a scelta. La struttura portante è costituita da un gamba centrale a colonna concentrica in acciaio finito in un'ampia gamma di colori.

“In designing this table, we began with gestures, imagining the contact between the hand and the tabletop; we then drew our inspiration from the cross-section of the wooden top’s profile, which forms a soft, enveloping and ergonomic frame, capable of accepting the body of those who lean on it as well as the hands of those who brush its surface.”

Aldo Parisotto (Monselice, 1962) graduated from IUAV Venice under James Stirling, and taught interior design in Trieste from 2001 to 2003. Massimo Formenton (Padova, 1964) also graduated from IUAV in 1989. Together they founded Parisotto+Formenton studio in Padova in 1990, with a Milan base added in 2004. Their work spans architecture (museums, commercial spaces and residential buildings, including the recent restoration of Milan’s historical Ricordi palace) and 360° retail design for major fashion and luxury brands (Salvatore Ferragamo, Eleventy, Testoni, Vic Matié, among others). They are also behind the Nespresso boutique concepts worldwide, alongside significant collaborations in lighting and furniture design.
